MEMO

To: All Staff

From: Director Stevens

Re: Expenditures

The annual fiscal review has shown that our office maintenance costs are too high. I propose three possible ways to reduce them. First, let's bring mugs from home and decrease the number of paper cups we use. Second, we should utilize scrap paper more frequently. Everyone needs to print notes and drafts on the blank side of already-used paper. Last, we often leave the heater on overnight. We will now be using an automatic timer. From now on, the heating system will switch off at 6 P.M. each day of the week.

147. Why was the memo written?

- (A) To request ideas for recycling
- (B) To ask employees to conserve energy
- (C) To inform employees of a new cooling policy
- (D) To suggest methods for saving money

148. According to the memo, what will happen every day?

- (A) The breaks each employee takes will be timed.
- (B) Workers will be notified of their energy usage.
- (C) The heat will be turned off in the evening.
- (D) A limited amount of paper will be provided.

Nicholai Andreas 2:17 P.M.
He asked me to show him another place. So I took him to 202 Webster Street.

Alexis Carpenter 2:19 P.M.
That should be perfect for him and his family. How did he react when he saw it?

TO Ted Robertson <tedrob@grendel.com>
FROM Karen Holmes <kholmes@grendel.com>
RE Your E-Mail
DATE November 5

Dear Mr. Robertson,

In your e-mail dated November 4, you expressed your displeasure that you were not reimbursed for some expenditures on your business trip to Melbourne in October. — [1] —. I believe that because you have only been employed at Grendel, Inc. since September, you may not be aware of our reimbursement policy. — [2] —. Among them are transportation costs, such as airplane tickets and taxi fares, hotel accommodations, and meals. There are, of course, daily limits on how much can be spent for each. — [3] —. We do not, however, compensate employees for the purchase of souvenirs, movie tickets, or various personal items. I have attached a list explaining what is and isn't eligible for reimbursement. In addition, please be aware that costs for transportation are based on a standard rate for mileage driven, not on the actual cost of gasoline for a salesperson's vehicle. — [4] —. I welcome any questions or comments you may have regarding this matter.

Sincerely,

Karen Holmes,

July 23

Dear Mr. Harper,

Thank you for submitting a bid to my firm for the expansion of our warehouse at Steller Docks. At first glance, your proposal appears competitive. However, you failed to turn in every required document related to your bid when you sent it to me last week. I have attached a sheet listing which items were not included. Most notable among them is the expected labor cost report. As that will be a significant portion of the overall cost of the project, I cannot make a final decision until I see it. Please send everything on the list as soon as you can. I must have those documents no later than August 5 as that is the final day bids are being accepted. Once we have your complete submission, we can begin the process of examining it in more detail. Then, on August 21, a decision regarding which firm will land the contract will be announced.

Dear Ms. Hyatt,

The e-mail you sent to my company was forwarded to me by a customer service representative. I truly regret that you had a negative experience with the Wellborn Rental Car Agency. According to your e-mail, you reserved a minivan to be picked up at our Nashville branch when you arrived from Portland on February 5. You were planning to drop it off in St. Louis. However, when you visited the information desk, you were given a compact car instead.

I conducted an investigation and learned that the employee with whom you spoke on the phone input your reservation request into the computer improperly. In addition, we had an unreserved minivan on the lot, so it should have been given to you when you requested it. The operator and desk agent you dealt with have both been informed of their mistakes and would like to apologize to you.

To compensate you for your trouble, I am sending you a voucher which you can download and use the next time you rent a vehicle with us. With it, you can receive the vehicle of your choice for five days at no cost to you.

Mulberry Library to Close for Renovations

The Mulberry Library, located at 19 Jackson Lane, is going to close for renovations on January 10. The library is expected to be closed until sometime in the middle of August. During that time, extensive work will be done on the library. The basement floor will be expanded to give it more space for the library's growing collection of books and magazines. A reading room for children and a computer laboratory will be added to the rooms of the first floor. And the second floor will be redeveloped completely. When finished, it will contain an audio-visual center as well as a special room which will house the library's rare books and historical documents. We request that all books which have been checked out by our users be returned to the library before it closes. During the renovation period, we are going to conduct an audit of our entire collection. Until it is complete, no books may be checked out. Once finished, books may be borrowed while the renovation period is ongoing by going to the library's Web site and placing a request on it.

From: Fred Delacour <fredd@robinsontrade.com>

Subject: Managerial Position

Dear Ms. Nelson,

The competition between you and Jerry O'Sullivan was fierce, and we really like both of you. In the end, however, we have determined that you would fit our corporate culture better than he would. This became particularly obvious at the second interview, where you interacted well with all of the employees you met. We therefore extend an offer of employment to you. We request that you start by the first of June. We are willing to offer you an annual salary of $60,000. You will also receive full benefits, including health insurance, and you will get annual performance bonuses as well as twenty days of paid vacation per annum. I hope you respond in a positive manner.

Dear Mr. Delacour,

I too feel that working at Robinson Trade would be an excellent move. I enjoyed meeting everyone there, and it has always been my dream to return to my hometown to work there. Unfortunately, the payment is not what I had been led to expect. I specifically recall being told that I would make at least $20,000 more per year in salary. I wonder if the number you wrote in your e-mail to me is correct. If it is, I regret to inform you that I will not be able to accept your offer.

Best,
Sandra Nelson

My name is Roger Brooke, and I write for the Richmond Daily News. My stories frequently appear in the arts and culture section, and I also have a weekly column. I am planning to be in Delmont this weekend as I'm writing a story about the local museum. I wonder if there are any tickets available for the June 14 performance. I intend to write a review for publication in next Friday's edition. I was told to contact you because the Delmont Center frequently provides complimentary or low-cost tickets to members of the press.

An Impressive Homecoming

By Roger Brooke

Delmont (July 10) – While it wasn't my first choice of performances to watch at the Delmont Center for the Performing Arts, I had the privilege of seeing Derrek Morris put on a show last month. I'm not really one for comedy. My tastes run more to music and dramatic performances. But I thought I'd give Mr. Morris's routine a chance. I must admit I'm pleased to have done so. Mr. Morris put on a hilarious performance which had me shaking with laughter throughout all two hours. Even better, the show was family friendly, so there were numerous parents with their children at the performance. Mr. Morris impressed me so much that I think I'll try to catch another similar routine next month.

Dear Ms. Weathersby,

I regret to inform you that progress on my client's newest work is going more slowly than intended. While the final draft of Jerry's Tale was supposed to be submitted by the middle of April, you will not receive it until the end of May. My client had some personal health matters and was unable to do any work for several weeks. Fortunately, the issues are settled, so he is back to work. Still, I believe that the publishing date of the book should be moved back. Please contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Justin Maroney
